

ALL BLAME RESTS WITH THE PORTE

permanence was 1,288, and the number of remarriages 635—forty less than in the past year. There were 10,000 cases of marriage of divorced men to divorced women. The annual steady increase of the year's marriage age continues. It is now 28.66 for men and 25.49 for women. The number of births was 915,042, representing 26.5 per 1,000 population. This is the lowest point on record. The deaths were also the lowest ever recorded, being 524,231, or 15 per 1,000.

At Danger Point.

(Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.)
LONDON, January 30.—There has been a good deal of uneasiness felt, more perhaps, in high financial circles than elsewhere, for the past few days over the Bulgarian mobilization on the Turkish frontier. The danger of a deliberate outbreak of war between Turkey and Bulgaria has not been great. The principal powers are quite able to bring sufficient pressure both at Constantinople and Sofia to prevent that, and their action in that direction was prompt and will soon prove effective. There was, however, distinct peril of actual war. A shot fired by a nervous sentry might easily start the flames of a conflagration the limits of which could not be foreseen.

There now has been an aggressive purpose on Turkey's part, and Bulgaria's hot-headed action in raising an expense many times the amount in dispute was a pure bluff. She has gained her point, however, for Turkey, under pressure of the powers, will undoubtedly accept within a few days the terms Bulgaria offers. The unpleasant feature of the episode has been Austria's and Germany's abstention from joining Great Britain, Russia, France and Italy in prompt intervention, which was necessary to avert trouble.

Feeling in Ireland.

(Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.)
LONDON, January 30.—The language of extreme denunciation used yesterday by Sir Edward Carson, the former solicitor-general, at one time solicitor-general for Ireland, against Mr. Birrell, chief secretary for Ireland, shows the pitch of party feeling which has been aroused in Ireland. Sir Edward said:

"As a man who has held high office in Ireland, I declare that at the present moment the conduct of the government is the gravest scandal under any government of any country that has been seen in our time, and is a foul stain on the British flag. I am not going to make any personal attack on Mr. Birrell; he is beneath contempt. He is a mere party puppet, playing the party game for the sake of Irish votes."

Peru's Woes.

(Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.)
LONDON, January 30.—Peru's woes attract little attention in Europe, although the situation there is desperate. Public sympathy in England has been naturally on the side of the constitutionalists until recently, when it was learned that this faction is in reality as autocratic and tyrannical as the shah's supporters. The so-called Parliament, which met, and which the shah dissolved, was a self-constituted coterie who never received the suffrages of the people. Their policy and methods were directed solely to get possession of the spoils and establish another autocracy.

Development of Radium.

(Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.)
PARIS, January 30.—The impetus given to radium in the last few days to the development of the uses of radium has drawn attention to the great work that is being done by the Paris Radium Institute, where Mme. Curie superintends the extraction of radium from substances from which it is obtained. The institute now possesses fifteen grains of radium, valued at $50,000.

Experiments in the hospital connected with the institute have been so active in the past three years that Dr. De Graaf, in charge, says, "We in France are no longer in a period of expectancy. We are now in a period of confirmation."

The institute reports sixty-four cures of surface cancer out of sixty-eight cases treated. Hundreds of cures have been made in cancer of the breasts, including tumors, some of great size. Thousands of birthmarks and scars have been removed, and remarkable cures of chronic rheumatism, eczema

A FEARLESS, HONEST PREACHER GIVES HIS OPINION OF PE-RU-NA.

An Up-to-Date Clergyman Describes an Up-to-Date Household Remedy that Has Had the Test of Time and Is Known the World Over.

Some preachers are afraid to give an outspoken opinion on any remedy, however highly they may esteem it. Others are not afraid.

One of those who is not afraid is quoted below. Read what he says. He means every word of it. If you doubt it write him a letter, enclosing a stamp. He will tell you what he thinks.

Rev. J. T. Peeler

Catarrh of Stomach.

REV. J. T. PEELER, Hendersonville, S. C., writes:

"I desire to make known for the benefit of suffering humanity my experience with Peru-na.

"I was afflicted with catarrh of the stomach, and though I tried many remedies, and applied to several doctors, it was all in vain.

"Had it not been for Peru-na I believe I would have been in my grave to-day.

"I have every reason to believe that Peru-na is the greatest remedy for catarrh known to the world. Therefore I have been, and shall continue to recommend it to those who are unwell."

and tuberculosis have been recorded. It is expected that during the present year the laboratory will provide six times the quantity of radium mentioned above.

A recent departure is the application of the radium to mineral waters, the efficiency of which will be vastly increased thereby.

London Social Notes.

(Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.)
LONDON, January 30.—The Princess Hatzfeldt gave a ball at Draycott early in the week, and then came to her town house and gave several dinners.

Mrs. Grace had a dance of young people at Battle Abbey.

Mrs. H. G. Selridge opened a house on Arlington Street, which she rented from the Earl of Yarborough. She has given several entertainments.

Mrs. Cornwallis West has taken Miss Melba's house for the season. It is opposite the home of her sisters, Mrs. Morton Frewen and Mrs. John Leslie.

Mrs. McCormick Goodheart assisted the Princess Marie Louise of Schleswig-Holstein at a fair to raise money for poor children gathered together by the Church Army.

Mrs. Goodheart contributed 200 boxes of candy. The princess gave toys, and the children went home with their pockets bulging with good things.

Captain Gilchrist has taken Mrs. Drummond's flat in Berkeley Square. It is reported that he will soon be transferred as naval attaché of the American embassy in London and given a sea-going appointment.

Mrs. Ogden Bishop is staying at West Park, the home of Ambassador Reid, for a few days.

His Heart Was Hard.

(Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.)
LONDON, January 30.—The Pharaoh whose heart was hardened against the children of Israel, so that he would not let them go, was otherwise known as Menephtah. A writer some time ago described the discovery of his mummy in the tomb of Amenhotep II. Professor Elliot Smith unwrapped the mummy and sent sections of the aorta (heart) to the Royal College of Physicians, London.

The professor exhibited them to the pathological section, and it was seen that Pharaoh's heart was hardened in another sense of the word. To quote the Lancet, the sections show typical senile calcification of the aorta, the bony lamelliform layers being perfectly preserved and the interlamellar material thickly strewn with phosphate of lime. Menephtah was an old man when he died.

Kitchener Is Triumphant.

(Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.)
LONDON, January 30.—The last act in the drama which ended with Lord Curzon's premature retirement from the vicereignty of India is announced in brief telegram dealing with army reforms in India.

It may be remembered that there was a bitter controversy between Lord Curzon and Lord Kitchener over the latter's army scheme, which included the abolition of the military member of the Viceroy's executive council and the transference of his functions to the commander-in-chief and the head-quarters staff. Lord Curzon insisted on having a military expert in his council, apart from the commander-in-chief, who is ex officio a member of the council.

The struggle between the two strong personalities in a compromise, but Kitchener had the better of it, for though the military member was retained in the council, he was practically without power. The arrangement pleased no one, and Lord Curzon resigned. Now Lord Kitchener has supplied the control of military supplies passing to the commander-in-chief.

Paintings Stolen.

(Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.)
LONDON, January 30.—Bulgarian broke into the Van Hien Gallery, in Jermyn Street, and stole thirty of Van

REV. J. G. DUKES, Pastor of the Unitarian Church at Pinetown, N. C., writes:

"My wife has been in a very bad state of health for several years, and nothing seemed to do her any good until she began to use Peru-na one month ago. Since then the color has returned to her face, and she is gaining in flesh every day, and I believe she is a well woman to-day."

"My little boy, ten years old, was pale and had but little life. He began to use Peru-na the day his mother began. To-day his face is rosy, and he is out in the yard running and jumping with the rest of the children."

Throat Trouble.

Rev. H. W. Tate, 320 Lincoln Ave., Walnut Hills, Cincinnati, Ohio, writes that for several years he has been troubled with a peculiar spasmodic affection of the throat, which interfered with his vocation as a preacher. It would seize him suddenly, and for a few moments he would be unable to speak audibly and his breath would be greatly interfered with. He took Peru-na and his trouble disappeared.

People who object to liquid medicines can now secure Peru-na tablets.

His best paintings, valued at $30,000, and also a number of international diplomatic orders.

Will Not Contest.

(Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.)
LONDON, January 30.—Lord Dalmeigh, eldest son of the Earl of Rosebery, who has represented Midlothian, Mr. Gladstone's old district, in the House since 1896, announces that he will not contest the district at the next election, owing to his inability to endorse the entire policy of the government.

The Queen's Health.

(Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.)
LONDON, January 30.—Disquieting rumors are current concerning the health of Queen Alexandra. Miss Knollys, her secretary, announced from Windsor Castle that Her Majesty has nearly recovered from her recent attack of influenza, and hopes to return to London Monday.

The Queen's physicians advise her to reserve her strength for her coming visit to Berlin, where her husband is probably that she will not accompany the King when he goes to open Parliament.

The Stirling Divorce.

(Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.)
EDINBURGH, January 30.—At today's hearing of Captain Stirling's petition for divorce in the Court of Session, the learned judge, Lord Dalrymple, stated on cross examination that once when Mrs. Stirling was in her room she told the witness to ask Lord Northland, who was staying in the same house, to come and see her. Northland came, and stayed in the room near her for some time, and on the next day she saw Northland kiss Mrs. Stirling on the stairs.

Consul-General Dead.

(Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.)
ROME, January 30.—Hector de Casto, American consul-general at Zurich, Switzerland, and formerly consul at London, died this morning of nephritis.

ASTOUNDING PLAY

All England Is Taking Interest in a New Patriotic Drama.

(Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.)
LONDON, January 30.—It is many years since a theatrical play has made such a sensation as "An Englishman's Boy," a patriotic drama produced last week at Wyndham's Theatre. George Roberts has devoted his whole time and energy since the South African war to producing Englishmen who necessarily for every one of them qualify himself to take up a rifle and defend his home in case of invasion. He has received the Englishmen's support, and it is well known that he and every prominent soldier in the country advocate compulsory service.

This play is now being recognized as the most powerful assistance given Lord Roberts in his propaganda campaign. It is devoid of the ordinary story and love interest, and shows a middle class English home shut up on a foggy bank holiday. The father, sons and daughters depict the war in the British attitude on military questions. The father plays a disabled soldier and the sons look at football and cricket. A daughter's sweetheart alone feels his duty to join the territorial army, and he is shot while on duty.

This quiet home is then suddenly entered by the soldiers of the Empire, and the North whose army has invaded England under cover of fog. The uselessness of the old-fashioned volunteer officers is scathingly portrayed, and what has been laughable, farcical comedy changes into a tragedy when the football-playing son is shot in the heart and the father, seeing a rifle, fires on the enemy, and is then shot on his own lawn as a civilian who has no right to fire in defense of his own home.

Some of the critics, while acknowledging the strength of the play as a pamphlet, condemn it as crude and also blame the author for not pushing the lesson home, for the play finishes with the beginning of the Highlanders' march, and the enemy is not shown approaching and the news that the enemy is surrounded. Both these points are covered by the fact that the play is a patriotic drama, and the anonymous author of "The Patriot" is. They suggest that it must be an old hand, who is testing himself under a pseudonym. Some declare that it must be none other than J. M. Barrie, who to-day writes to the press that he is the author of the play, but saying that he wishes it was himself. In regard to the end of the play, the author has left the invaders victorious, and until that and the suggestions that the invaders were German is altered, the censor refuses to license the drama. The author's name is still a secret.

From the Times down, most of the newspapers have devoted an editorial to the play, which is the only play produced at two houses in London simultaneously. The public is writing to the press suggesting that companies should be sent throughout the kingdom playing for funds to be subscribed for expenses at places where the play could not be expected to pay in the ordinary way.

Photograph by Wire.

PARIS, January 31.—The Matin prints a photograph of Count Zeppelin in his aeroplane, the picture having been transmitted over a telephone wire from Beslone by the Korn process in ten minutes.

BARK IS INJURED

Auxiliary Cruiser Panther Crashes Into Her While Being Docked.

GIBRALTAR, January 30.—As the American auxiliary cruiser Panther was entering the harbor this afternoon she came into collision with the Uruguayan bark Maria. The bark was moored at the Commercial Wharf. The Panther was only slightly damaged, but the bark was considerably impaired.

While the Panther is classed as an auxiliary cruiser, she is accompanying the battleships in the capacity of a repair ship.

WHIPPED EDITOR

Sons of Governor Get Revenge for His One-Cent Verdict.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
MONTGOMERY, ALA., January 30.—Donald and Fletcher Comer, sons of Governor B. B. Comer, attacked Frank P. Glass, editor of the Advertiser, on the streets to-day and knocked him down.

Feeling over a second suit of the Governor against the paper, in which a verdict of one cent was given the Governor, caused the trouble.

CONE IS SLATED

Will Be Chief of the Bureau of Steam Engineering.

WASHINGTON, D. C., January 30.—Lieutenant-Commander H. L. Cone, chief engineer of the Atlantic battleship fleet, is said to be slated for the post of Chief of the Bureau of Steam Engineering of the Navy Department, which, under Secretary Newberry's plan of reorganization, is to become a part of the Bureau of Naval Construction.

Lieutenant-Commander Cone is expected to arrive in Washington about the end of February and relieve Chief Constructor Canine, who has been in temporary charge of the work of the Bureau of Steam Engineering since the retirement of Rear Admiral Roe several weeks ago. As chief of the bureau, Lieutenant-Commander Cone will have the rank of a rear admiral.

Treaty Is Signed.

PANAMA, January 30.—The Panama-Colombia treaty was ratified by the National Assembly this afternoon, and was signed by President Obaldia.

END OF A RED NOSE

New Flesh-Colored Product That Heals and Hides Skin Imperfections.

A peculiar feature of poslam, a new skin dressing, is that it is naturally flesh-colored and contains no grease, so that when used on the face for the complexion, or for pimples, red noses, or any other skin eruptions, it does not become greasy. Its presence cannot be detected. It can thus be applied in the daytime, the natural color of the skin being immediately restored, and the actual healing and curing process accomplished in a few days. It can be had of any pharmacist, or by mail from the Poslam Drug Store, which has a specialty of it. Fifty cents' worth will answer either for the troubles mentioned or in curing ordinary cases of eczema. Itching stops at once.

The Emergency Laboratories, No. 32 West Twenty-fifth Street, New York, are the sole dispensing agency for poslam in the United States, and will send an experimental quantity free by mail in plain wrapper to all who write for it. This will show results after an overnight application.
